

Gilles Lisimaque Elected to ID Technology Partners, Inc. Board of Directors

North Potomac, MD, January 10, 2007 – Identification Technology Partners, Inc. (IDTP) announced that Gilles Lisimaque was elected to the company's Board of Directors. Mr. Lisimaque joined IDTP as a partner in January 2005. He actively represents IDTP clients in US and International standards bodies, as well as provides technical and business guidance in the design and application of smart-cards and identity credentialing systems.

"It has been my pleasure to know Gilles and to work with him in many capacities over the years", said M. Paul Collier, President and Chairman of IDTP. "I am excited to have Gilles' influence on the Board, and share his background and experience as one of the true pioneers in the smart-card industry".

As a recognized smart card expert, Mr. Lisimaque is a member of the Smart Card Alliance, and holds multiple patents on smart card security and smart card Operating System design. "After two years of working with IDTP I was honored when asked to take a board position", Mr. Lisimaque said. "Being able to contribute to the identification industry with the independent view IDTP has always promoted, is very exciting to me. This team is great and we're making a difference."
